veloped some sensational features and consumed more than a week. Walker sued for $25,660. The jury returned a verdiet for $5,660, to which the defense took execution, asking that the verdiet he set aside at contrary to law and evidence. Judge Gramp considered the motion to set aside sweral days and finally over ruled it. Fursuant to this ruling by criticism an order on March 25 most ling Walker the damages allowed by the jury. The sling of the bond for that amount yesterday by the defense holds up the execution of the judgment, giving time for a notice of appeal.
